

Science in Society, 30th June

- See the new teaching resources for AS/A Science in Society
 - Explore key scientific issues
 - Meet other teachers introducing the course this September
- Hosted by the Royal Institution participants will have the opportunity to
- view the newly refurbished building opened by the Queen a few weeks earlier and visit the new exhibitions
 - accept an invitation to stay on for an evening Royal Institution event

Andrew Hunt, editor of the Science in Society texts, will introduce the new AS book on its day of publication and update participants on progress with the A2 book. Contributors to the book will also be present.

All conference participants will receive a copy of AS Science in Society.

Conference fee, including lunch and refreshments, £60

First Annual Conference for Teachers of
AS/A Science in Society
Monday 30th June
Royal Institution of Great Britain
21 Albemarle Street, London W1S 4BS

To reserve your place please complete the attached booking form or download a form from www.scienceinsocietyadvanced.org and return to:

Jo Oladejo, Nuffield Curriculum Centre, 28 Bedford Square, London, WC1B 3JS joladejo@nuffieldfoundation.org 020 7636 4612